A NEW FRONTIER IN GRAVEL RACING

26 Oct - 01 Nov 2025
25 - 31 Oct 2026

The Nedbank Gravel Burn is a seven-day, 800-kilometre gravel stage race through South Africa's diverse and dramatic landscapes.

From lush coastal forests in Knysna to the vast, fossil rich plains of the Great Karoo, riders journey through a region shaped by deep time, history and geology.

Each night is spent in remote Burn Camps, purpose-built villages under wide, star filled skies.

The journey ends at Shamwari Private Game Reserve, where riders are welcomed by Africa's iconic Big Five wildlife.

The format is simple but demanding. Every rider is on their own. No teams, no radios, no outside support. It is a solo test of endurance, resilience and strategy.

The 2025 and 2026 field brings together top names from every cycling discipline. Olympic gold medallist and Tour de France stage winner Tom Pidcock is a clear favourite in the men's race, while Paris Roubaix Femmes champion Alison Jackson leads the women's field.

With the richest prize purses in gravel, and a route that favours no single discipline, the racing is unpredictable and fiercely contested.

The Nedbank Gravel Burn inspires, challenges and connects riders in equal measure. It is a story of landscapes, solitude and strength. A new frontier in gravel racing, and a rare meeting point for the world's best.
